

HAMBORG.CITY

Free platform for foreigners in Germany

- ✓ 24/7 Assistant in Your Language
- ✓ Official Document Scanner
- ✓ Deadline Reminders
- ✓ Benefit Calculators

hamborg.city — is and will be FREE

Health Insurance in Germany — GKV or PKV?

Everything about health insurance in Germany. How to choose a health fund, costs, and what's covered.

Deutsche Begriffe: Krankenversicherung | GKV | PKV | Krankenkasse | Gesetzliche Krankenversicherung

Health Insurance in Germany

Insurance is MANDATORY

In Germany everyone must have health insurance. Without it, you cannot legally work.

Two Systems: GKV and PKV

GKV (Gesetzliche Krankenversicherung) — Public

- For whom: Employees earning up to €69,300/year (2024)
- Cost: ~15% of salary (employer pays half!)
- Advantages: Family covered for free, fixed benefits
- Disadvantages: Longer waiting times for appointments

Most popular health funds (Krankenkasse):

- TK (Techniker Krankenkasse) — largest, good service
- AOK — available everywhere, regional
- Barmer — good for families

- DAK — competitive premiums

PKV (Private Krankenversicherung) — Private

- For whom: Earners above €69,300/year, freelancers
- Cost: Depends on age and health (€200-800/month)
- Advantages: Faster appointments, better hospital rooms
- Disadvantages: More expensive with age, family pays separately

How to Register?

If you work (employment contract):

1. Choose a health fund (GKV)
2. Fill out form online or at branch
3. Give employer your insurance number

If you're a freelancer:

1. You can choose GKV (voluntary) or PKV
2. You pay the full premium yourself (~€800/month in GKV)

What's Covered?

- Doctor visits  Hospital  Surgery  Prescription drugs (€5-10 copay)  Pregnancy and childbirth  Rehabilitation
- Dentist (partially — crowns, implants)  Optometrist (glasses for adults)  Alternative medicine

EHIC Card

If you have insurance from an EU country, you can temporarily use the European Health Insurance Card (EHIC). But once you start working — you must have German health insurance.