Studying in Germany — Application, Costs and Tips for Foreigners

How to study in Germany: types of universities, admission, costs, financing and residence status.

Deutsche Begriffe: Studium | Universität | Fachhochschule | Immatrikulation | Semesterbeitrag | BAföG | Studentenvisum

Why Study in Germany?

Germany is one of the most popular study destinations worldwide — and for good reasons:

- No tuition fees at public universities (only semester contribution)
- High quality — many universities in international rankings
- International programmes — over 1,800 English-language degree programs
- Residence rights — 18 months job search permitted after graduation
- Good job market — shortage of skilled workers in many sectors

Types of Universities

Universität (Uni)

- Research-focused — much theory, scientific work
- Degrees: Bachelor (6–8 semesters), Master (2–4 semesters), Doctorate (Dr.)
- Study programmes: all fields of study, including medicine, law, teaching
- Examples: TU Munich, Uni Heidelberg, Humboldt University Berlin

Fachhochschule (FH) / Hochschule für angewandte Wissenschaften (HAW)

- Practice-oriented — many projects, mandatory internships
- Degrees: Bachelor, Master
- Study programmes: engineering, business administration, computer science, social work, design
- Smaller groups, more personal supervision

Duales Studium

- Combination of study and work in a company
- Remuneration from employer (€800–1,500/month)
- High workload, but practical experience from day one

Admission and Application

Requirements

1. Hochschulzugangsberechtigung (HZB) — Your foreign school certificate must be recognized

- Check on anabin.kmk.org whether your certificate is recognized
- If not: Studienkolleg (1 year preparation + entrance exam)

2. Language certificate

- German-language programmes: TestDaF (TDN 4) or DSH (level 2)
- English-language programmes: IELTS (6.0–6.5) or TOEFL (80–100)

3. Possibly entrance exam — e.g. for medicine (TMS), art (portfolio), music (audition)

Application Deadlines

Semester	Deadline
Winter semester (October)	15 July (international applicants often 15 June)
Summer semester (April)	15 January

Where to Apply

- uni-assist (uni-assist.de) — central application office for many universities (fee: €75 + €30 per additional university)
- Directly at the university — some universities accept applications directly
- Hochschulstart (hochschulstart.de) — for medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, pharmacy

Costs

Semester Contribution

At public universities there are no tuition fees (exception: Baden-Württemberg charges €1,500/semester for non-EU students). The Semesterbeitrag (€150–400) covers:

- Semester ticket (public transport in the region)
- Studentenwerk (cafeteria, counselling, student housing)
- AStA (student representation)

Cost of Living

Item	Cost/month
Rent (shared flat/dorm)	€300–600
Food	€200–300
Health insurance	€110–120 (student insurance)
Learning materials	€30–50
Internet/mobile	€20–40
Transport (often in semester ticket)	€0–50
Leisure	€50–100
Total	approx. €850–1,200

Blocked Account for Studentervisum

For the Studentervisum you must demonstrate a blocked account with at least €11,904 (€992/month × 12). You can withdraw a maximum of €992 per month from this.

Providers: Expatrio, Fintiba, Deutsche Bank

Financing

BAföG (Bundesausbildungsförderungsgesetz)

- Who? Students up to 45 years old with certain residence status
- How much? Max. €934/month (maximum rate 2025/26)
- Repayment: 50% as interest-free loan (max. €10,010), rest is a gift
- Application: at your university's Studierendenswerk

Important for foreigners: You receive BAföG only with certain residence statuses (e.g. Niederlassungserlaubnis, after 15 months with Aufenthaltserlaubnis, as recognized refugee).

Scholarships

- DAAD (daad.de) — largest German scholarship organization for foreigners
- Deutschlandstipendium — €300/month, merit-based
- Foundations — Studienstiftung, Heinrich-Böll, Konrad-Adenauer, Friedrich-Ebert and others
- Stipendienlotse (stipendienlotse.de) — scholarship search engine

Part-time Work

- As a student you may work 120 full days or 240 half days per year
- As Werkstudent (max. 20 h/week during lecture period): reduced social contributions
- Minijob (€603/month): tax-free, no social contributions for you
- During semester breaks: unlimited work permitted

Residence Status for Studies

Studentenvisum (§ 16b AufenthG)

- Before entry apply at the German embassy
- Duration: initially 1-2 years, extendable for study duration + max. 10 years
- Requirements: admission, proof of financing, health insurance
- Part-time work permitted (120/240 days)

After Graduation

- 18 months Aufenthaltserlaubnis for job search (§ 20 AufenthG)
- Then: Aufenthaltserlaubnis for employment (§ 18b AufenthG)
- After 2 years: possibility of Blue Card EU or Niederlassungserlaubnis

Health Insurance

Up to age 30 (or 14th semester): student statutory health insurance (approx. €110-120/month). After that: voluntary insurance (approx. €200-250/month).

Tip: Arrange insurance before registration — without health insurance certificate you cannot enroll!

Tips for International Students

- 1. Apply early — especially for popular programmes and student housing
- 2. Learn German — even for English-language programmes, German helps in daily life
- 3. Student housing — cheaper than shared flats, apply via Studierendenwerk
- 4. Buddy programmes — many universities offer mentoring for international students
- 5. AStA and Fachschaft — student groups help with problems
- 6. Internships — use mandatory internships to gain professional experience
